2 ATHLETICS ANNUAL REPORT

What It Means to Be a Student-Athlete at St. Edward's

Athletics at St. Edward's University goes far beyond simple wins and losses. It extends past conference championships and national tournaments. At St. Edward's, student-athletes are challenged to think critically and creatively and to strive for academic excellence. They participate in meaningful service activities and make a difference in the community. In other words, they embody the mission of St. Edward's.

Academic Excellence

- Sixty-three percent of all student-athletes at St. Edward's posted a 3.0 GPA or better during the Fall 2007 semester. Thirty-four percent had a 3.5 GPA or better. Sixty-seven percent of all student-athletes at St. Edward's had a 3.0 GPA or better during the Spring 2008 semester. Forty percent posted a 3.5 GPA or better.
- Ten of 13 teams registered a GPA better than 3.0 in the Fall 2007 semester. Eleven of 13 teams achieved the same feat in Spring 2008. Women's tennis, women's soccer and volleyball all achieved team GPAs above 3.5 for the 2007–2008 academic year. Baseball, men's basketball and women's tennis compiled the highest GPAs in the Heartland Conference in their respective sports. Women's soccer, volleyball and men's soccer each received a team academic award by their respective sport governing body.
- Twenty-eight student-athletes at St. Edward's achieved a 4.0 GPA in Fall 2007, while 29 student-athletes earned a 4.0 GPA in Spring 2008. Six student-athletes have a cumulative GPA of 4.0.
- One hundred thirty student-athletes received academic all-conference honors during the 2007–2008 season. Seven students were named academic all-district, three academic all-Americans and seven Arthur Ashe Jr. Sports Scholars.
- St. Edward's has an academic success rate — or graduation rate — of 82 percent among its student-athletes, which is the second-highest in the Heartland and Lone Star conferences combined. This is 13 percent higher than the NCAA Division II aggregate academic success rate of 69 percent.

3.20

The combined GPA for all student-athletes at St. Edward's during the 2007–2008 academic year

Community Service

Student-athletes at St. Edward's assisted more than 40 campus and community organizations during the 2007–2008 academic year. Highlights included:

Copperfield Elementary Math Night

Every year at Super Bowl time, Hilltopper athletes join students from Copperfield Elementary for a night of math and mentoring. The annual event brings together parents, students and more than 100 student-athletes for games and activities that allow the children to show off their math skills and discover new ones.

2,510

Hours of community service performed by student-athletes in 2007–2008

Move-in Day

One hundred sixty-five student-athletes came together on move-in day and spent a total of 330 hours helping incoming freshmen and their parents unload suitcases, boxes and everything else that came with them to St. Edward's into the university residence halls.

Facility Upgrades

- Prior to the 2008 season, St. Edward's completed its renovation of the baseball dugouts and batting cage facility. The newly built cinder block dugouts enhance the baseball field while the additional storage areas provide much-needed space for equipment and supplies. The batting cage was updated with concrete and turf that improved the overall quality of the hitting facility.
- The university recently completed work on a 2,800-square-foot covered batting facility at Diane Daniels Softball Field. The facility is lighted and open-air with the possibility of being enclosed in the future. The batting cage features two netted areas for hitting, a large space for a variety of drills and turf for safety.
- The student-athlete weight room was given a facelift last spring. Several new pieces of Precor and functional-training equipment were added and athletic rubber flooring was installed to enhance the Hilltopper strength-training and weight room.

Athletic Excellence

- After taking nine of 13 Heartland Conference championships in 2006–2007, five teams took home conference championships in 2007–2008. Women's soccer, men's basketball, baseball, men's golf and women's golf all achieved top honors.
- Eight teams were ranked nationally during the 2007–2008 season and six teams made appearances in the national tournament with two top-three finishes. Men's golf tied for second place, and the softball team tied for third place.
- Student-athletes at St. Edward's garnered Player of the Week honors 45 times during the 2007–2008 season. Fifty-seven student-athletes received all-conference honors, with four receiving Heartland Conference Player of the Year honors and three being named Freshman of the Year. Sixteen student-athletes received all-region recognition, and seven student-athletes were all-Americans.

2nd Place

The men's golf team finished the 2007–2008 season tied for second place in the NCAA Division II National Tournament.

3rd Place

The softball team tied for third place in the NCAA Division II national tournament.

Staffing Honors

St. Edward's University coaches combined to win three Heartland Conference Coach of the Year honors during the 2007–2008 season. Ryan Marks (men's basketball), Jennifer McNeil (women's golf) and Ryan Murphy (men's golf) each were named coach of the year for their respective sports. McNeil and Murphy were also named GCAA South Central Regional Coaches of the Year.

Amy Coulter (softball) serves on the NCAA South Central Regional ranking committee and is chair of the Heartland Conference softball coaches. Coulter was named NFCA Regional Coach of the Year.

Sean Donahue (volleyball) serves as volleyball chair for the Heartland Conference, is a rater for the NCAA Division II top-25 poll and represents the Heartland Conference volleyball coaches on the NCAA volleyball coaches committee.

Ryan Marks (men's basketball) serves as a Heartland Conference congressman to the National Association of Basketball Coaches Division II Congress and is a member of the NCAA Division II men's basketball South Central Regional ranking committee.

Jennifer McNeil (women's golf) was an NCAA Division II representative and rater for the National Golf Coaches Association during the 2007–2008 academic year.

Melinda Terry (director of sports medicine) is president of the Southwest Athletic Trainers' Association and executive board president of the National Athletic Trainers' Association convention planning committee.

Jennifer White (women's basketball) serves on the NCAA South Central Regional ranking committee for women's basketball.

Brian Young (men's soccer) was one of three individuals to serve on the Midwest Regional ranking committee for the National Soccer Coaches Association and Adidas in 2007.

Logan Lawrence (sports information) serves on the College Sports Information Directors of America publications committee.

"The environment at St. Edward's demonstrates a lifelong commitment to achieve excellence in all aspects of my life, which helps me become an individual with the inner drive and desire to meet and reach my personal goals and values as I continue my life after St. Edward's."

SEASON OUTLOOK

Last spring, the Hilltopper Men's Golf team came back from a 12-shot deficit on the last nine holes of the NCAA Division II national championship to finish in a three-way tie for first place.

St. Edward's finished the tournament tied for second, narrowly missing the school's first-ever national title in any sport.

In what was arguably the most decorated season in school history, the Hilltoppers won five tournaments, had five all-conference, three all-region and two all-America selections.

"At the national championship, this team came as close to winning without winning," says head coach Todd Ohlmeyer. "To come back from 12 shots down on the final nine holes of regulation to get into a playoff was extraordinary. It is a real testament to what kind of character this group has and will also serve as a little motivation for this season."

THE TEAM

St. Edward's returns junior Collin Mayer, a third-team all-America player with a 73.83 scoring average. He will be joined by senior Andrew Workman, and juniors Matthew Hatcher and Matt Smith. All three student-athletes were named to the all-Heartland Conference Team, and along with Mayer, the quartet competed in the national championship.

"We are excited to have four returnees from the National Championship squad coming back," says Ohlmeyer. "I know the guys have a great deal of confidence coming off of last season, but they are also hungry to improve. I think getting so close to a national title will serve as extra motivation for this year's team. We have an experienced, motivated team, which is a good combination to have."

Also returning to the squad this year will be sophomore Matthew Henson, who competed in 11 tournaments last year as a true freshman. Junior James O'Sullivan and sophomores Mitch Cahill, Dylan Davis and Matthew Rogers are back this season and are looking to break into the starting lineup. Davis also saw extended action last year, appearing in three tournaments, including a 69 at the Texoma Championship.

The Hilltoppers welcome two newcomers to this year's team: redshirt freshman Santiago Quintero and incoming freshman Will Appleby.

THE SCHEDULE

St. Edward's will embark on its most challenging schedule to date this fall. The Hilltoppers play in two of their usual events in the Charles Coody Intercollegiate and the NCAA Division II National Matchplay. They will also take part in the NCAA Division II National Championship Preview which will be played on the same course where the national championship will be played, and the strongest field all year will be assembled. The team will also compete in the Dennis Rose Intercollegiate in Hawaii.

THE OUTLOOK

The Hilltoppers are looking to take their success to the next level and establish St. Edward's as a consistent national contender during the 2008–2009 season.

"We can reach the next level, as long as everyone understands we cannot rest on last year's success," Ohlmeyer says. "There are no guarantees in golf, and the second we become content with last year's finish or expect it to happen again because we have four starters returning, is the very moment other teams pass us by. We will continue to work as hard as we can to achieve our ultimate goal of winning a national championship."

With the core of last year's team returning, St. Edward's is looking to hoist another trophy at the NCAA national tournament. This year, they are striving for the trophy that reads "National Champions."

TO Todd Ohlmeyer
 Head Coach | First Season
 Pepperdine '97

Todd Ohlmeyer begins his first season as head coach of the St. Edward's men's golf program.

Ohlmeyer comes to St. Edward's after holding the associate head coach title at NCAA Division I Coastal Carolina since January, 2008. As associate head coach of the Chanticleers, he was in charge of all recruiting efforts, coached the women's program at tournaments, and also served as Tournament Director for the General Jim Hackler Championship; a college tournament featuring 15 elite Division I golf programs. Prior to Coastal, Ohlmeyer was an assistant coach to both the men's and women's golf teams at Belmont Abbey College. He assisted with the instruction of both teams as well as traveled with the teams to tournaments.

Ohlmeyer brings an array of golf experience to the hilltop. He has worked with the American Cancer Society as the official spokesperson at all golf events in North and South Carolina since 2005. From 2000 to 2003, Ohlmeyer participated on the Golden Bear Tour, the Development of Players Tour, Pro Tour Hawaii and the Tight Lies Tour. Additionally, he caddied for Debbie Koyama on the LPGA tour and Michael Walton on the Nationwide Tour.

He joined the staff of ESPN Regional Television as production assistant in 1997 and assumed the role of operations coordinator in 1999. Ohlmeyer prepared the operational budget of each golf telecast, negotiated weekly and yearly contracts with equipment vendors, and researched and wrote video features on PGA, LPGA and Champions Tour players.

Ohlmeyer graduated from Pepperdine University with a bachelor's in Public Relations with an emphasis on Sports Management/Administration in 1997. A two-time Connecticut all-state golf selection, Ohlmeyer was also a member of the Pepperdine University golf team, which won the Division I national championship in 1997. He was inducted into the Pepperdine University Hall of Fame in 2007.

Ohlmeyer and his wife, Kati, have one son, Ian.

COACH'S COMMENTS: "Andrew is a very tough competitor. He's that guy that you always want to have on your side when it really matters. His talent level is extremely high and at times he is as good as anyone you have ever seen. Andrew's biggest strides came from improving his patience and his focus on the golf course, and I believe that is the key to unlocking his game. His senior year in college will be his best, and don't be surprised if you see his name on television in the future."

COACH'S COMMENTS: "Matt has the ability to shoot low scores at times. He had a 64 and a 65 in qualifying last season. He has worked on some fundamentals over the summer and is looking to vie for a spot.

Favorite sport (besides golf): Baseball and football

Favorite athlete: Tiger Woods

Santiago Quintero

Freshman | Valencia, Venezuela | Liceo Camoruco

HIGH SCHOOL CAREER

Lettered four years at Liceo Camoruco; was a member of the Venezuelan Junior National Team from 2003 to 2007; the national team finished second in the South American Games in 2007, where he finished eighth individually; competed in the Toyota Junior World Championships in Japan and the Junior British Open in England.

PERSONAL

Major: Business Administration

Favorite book: Golf is Not a Game of Perfect

Favorite sport (besides golf): Soccer

Favorite athlete: Ernie Els

What most people don't know about me: "My middle name."

Why I chose St. Edward's: "I chose St. Edward's because the golf team is fantastic, the educational system is great and I really like Austin."

WHAT'S IN THE BAG: Woods: Titleist Irons: Titleist Wedges: Titleist Putter: Scotty Cameron

COACH'S COMMENTS: "Santiago was a member of the Venezuelan Junior National Team. He brings a great deal of national tournament experience and international tournament experience to our squad. He has all of the tools necessary to make an immediate impact on our already strong team."

Will Appleby

Freshman | Del Mar, Calif. | Torrey Pines HS

HIGH SCHOOL CAREER

Lettered four years for Brian Brockett and Chris Chandler; named first-team all-Palomar League his sophomore and senior seasons; also named newcomer of the year in the league his sophomore season; named first-team all-region and second-team all-Southern California his senior season; helped team win Southern California championship and place fifth at state championship his sophomore season; named a Union Tribune Scholar-Athlete his senior season; was a member of Fellowship of Christian Athletes and president of the Marketing Club.

PERSONAL

Major: Business Administration

Favorite book: My Life In and Out of the Rough

What most people don't know about me: "I can turn any situation into a song."

Why I chose St. Edward's: "I chose St. Edward's for its reputation of having a great golf program and great university. These were things I wanted to be a part of."

WHAT'S IN THE BAG: Woods: Titleist Irons: Titleist Wedges: Titleist Putter: Scotty Cameron

COACH'S COMMENTS: "William is the only true freshman coming into this season. He has the talent to vie for a spot right away. The key to him getting into the lineup will be his work ethic and how quickly he learns the little things that make players consistently good."

Favorite sport (besides golf): Spear fishing

Favorite athlete: Lance Armstrong

Debbie Taylor, MEd

Director of Athletics

Debbie Taylor is in her seventh year as the director of Athletics at St. Edward's. She first came to the hilltop as the head volleyball coach in 1990 and has been an athletic administrator since 1995, promoted to associate athletic director in 1999 and to the director position in 2002. She created the Compliance Office in 1995 to help the university transition into NCAA Division II.

A former all-America volleyball player, Taylor received a bachelor's degree in Education from Southwestern University in 1986. During her tenure at Southwestern, Taylor established herself as one of the top volleyball players in the school's history. Her team advanced to the NAIA national tournament during the 1981 and 1983 seasons. She was an NAIA all-American in 1983 and 1984, and she was selected to the all-national tournament team in 1983. Taylor was named the Most Outstanding Physical Education Major in 1985 and was inducted into the Athletic Hall of Honor in 1990 and the Athletic Hall of Fame in 2008. She earned her master's degree in Physical Education and Educational Administration at Southwest Texas State University in 1992. Taylor served seven years as an officer for the American Volleyball Coaches Association serving as president in 1998. She was recognized for meritorious service by the United States Association of Volleyball in 1995 and served the state of Texas as an Impact Coach Certified Instructor.

As a coach, Taylor posted an overall record of 428–167 at St. Edward's. In 1991, 1996 and 1997, her team won the Heart of Texas Conference and, in 2001, won the Heartland Conference. In 1996, her team won the NAIA Southwest Region tournament championship. Overall she has coached four teams to the national tournament with two quarterfinal appearances. In 1990, her first year at St. Edward's, Taylor was named conference coach of the year, and she won the honor again in 2001. In 12 seasons, Taylor coached five conference most valuable players, seven conference freshmen of the year, 49 all-conference players, 67 academic all-conference players, 12 all-Americans and 11 scholar all-Americans.

As an administrator, Taylor was honored as the 1993 NAIA District IV Female Administrator of the Year and the 1997 NAIA Southwest Region Female Administrator of the Year. She has provided leadership to the Heartland Conference as chair of athletic directors. Taylor has also served on the NCAA management council, reinstatement committee and men's basketball regional ranking committee. Under Taylor's leadership as director of Athletics, the Hilltoppers have enjoyed 23 conference championships, 32 appearances in post-season play, three top-three national finishes and 22 conference Coach of the Year awards.

When asked if she misses coaching, Taylor will tell you that she's still coaching — she's just coaching the coaches.

Taylor and her husband, Robert, reside in Kyle.

Nikki Cockrell

Associate Director of Athletics for Facilities and Event Management

Nikki Cockrell begins her second year as associate director of Athletics for facilities and event management. She assists the director of Athletics in managing all aspects of athletic facilities, intercollegiate competition and campus recreation.

Cockrell previously served as the parks and recreation director for the City of Smithville, where she spent eight years. She initially joined the staff as manager of the Smithville Recreation Center in 1999 and was elevated to parks and recreation director in 2000. Cockrell managed four city parks, the city skate park and the 22,500-square-foot Recreation Center, overseeing 18 employees in the process. She was also involved in generating advertising, attracting fundraising and planning capital projects in the City of Smithville, as well as serving on numerous boards and committees within the community.

Cockrell is a 1999 graduate of UT–Austin, where she earned a bachelor's in Sport Management. While at UT, she was a three-year letter winner and one of the founding members of the Longhorn softball team, helping coach Connie Clark establish the team. Cockrell was named an academic and athletic all-American in 1998 and 1999, and was the NCAA Woman of the Year for the state of Texas in 1999. She was inducted into the UT Women's Athletics Hall of Honor in 2006, the first softball player inducted.

Cockrell currently resides in Austin.

Jennifer White

Assistant Director of Athletics for Student Services and Women's Basketball Head Coach

Jennifer White enters her sixth season as head women's basketball coach at St. Edward's and her third year as assistant director of Athletics.

As the assistant director of Athletics, she has myriad responsibilities that include being the liaison between Athletics and Residence Life, being heavily involved in student orientation, and taking on a leadership role within Athletics. White is also responsible for post-season awards, sits on numerous committees and serves as a mentor to new staff members within Athletics.

White came to the hilltop from the PlayStrong division of Ironsmith Corporation in Austin, which she developed. PlayStrong has received national and statewide recognition for its development of fundamental basketball skills and its training and conditioning programs.

Her education and basketball-playing experience began in 1979 at Louisiana Tech University in Ruston, La. During her time at Louisiana Tech, she was a member of the 1981 AIAW Division I and 1982 NCAA Division I national championship teams. In 1983, she earned a bachelor's degree in Physical Education, and she earned an MS in Physical Education from Louisiana Tech in 1985.

White served as an assistant coach to Leon Barmore with the Lady Techsters from 1985 to 1990. She then held an assistant coaching position at UT–Austin under Naismith Basketball Hall of Fame member Jody Conradt for three years.

16 SPIRIT PROGRAM

2008–2009 Cheerleaders

The St. Edward's University cheerleaders are dedicated athletes who represent the university by participating in national competitions. They also lead the charge in promoting school spirit and enthusiasm across campus in support of Athletics. When they are not on the competition floor or the sidelines cheering, they serve as representatives of the student body, faculty and staff through community service.

Ann Mary Carney | Coach

Carney enters her third year of coaching the St. Edward's cheerleaders and has been a part of the university community for 10 years as an adjunct faculty member teaching dance courses. As a coach she strives to instill the values of commitment and responsibility in a positive environment. Carney has a BS degree in Dance Education from Texas State University. She also holds an MFA in Performance and Choreography from Mills College. As head coach, Carney brings her skills as a teacher, performer, former cheerleader and gymnast along with her aesthetic sensitivity to the St. Edward's spirit program.

Topper

Topper arrived on the hilltop in 2002 as the university's official new mascot. Topper's mission includes working with the cheerleaders, dance team and HillRaisers to promote school spirit across campus. Topper can occasionally be seen roaming campus.

HillRaisers

The HillRaisers are a student spirit group open to all St. Edward's University students. Founded in 2007, the group seeks to have a visible fan presence at all home athletic events. The HillRaisers also spread spirit off the hilltop with bus trips to away games at rival schools. In addition to cheering on the Hilltoppers, the HillRaisers instill school spirit around campus. Spirited students join the HillRaisers by purchasing a T-shirt at any home athletic events, and wearing it to athletic events and cheering on the Hilltoppers.

Dance Team

The St. Edward's University Sapphires dance club performs jazz, pom and hip-hop styles of dance. The Sapphires appear at volleyball and basketball games and at events on campus.

Heartland Conference

The Heartland Conference is an NCAA Division II conference, founded in 1999, consisting of nine schools, six from Texas and one each from Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma. The schools in the Heartland Conference stretch from as far north and east as Jefferson City, MO., as far south as Laredo, and as far west as Odessa.

The following schools were founding members: St. Edward's University (Austin), University of the Incarnate Word (San Antonio), St. Mary's University (San Antonio) and Lincoln University (Jefferson City, MO.). The following schools were added at later dates: Dallas Baptist University (Dallas) in 2004, Oklahoma Panhandle State University (Goodwell, Okla.) in 2002, UT-Permian Basin (Odessa) in 2006, Texas A&M-International (Laredo) in 2006, and Newman University (Wichita, Kan.) in 2006.

The universities in the Heartland Conference offer a wide range of undergraduate, graduate and professional programs. Some of the academic programs sponsored by member institutions are among the best in the nation, including the Business Administration program at the University of the Incarnate Word, the Nursing program at Lincoln University, the Pre-Medicine program at St. Edwards University, the International Relations and Pre-Medicine programs at St. Mary's University, and the Agriculture and Elementary Education programs at Oklahoma Panhandle State University.

Among the many accomplishments of these institutions are national championships in baseball, golf, swimming, basketball and softball as well as national rankings in all sports. The strength of the student-athlete concept is well-supported by the many NCAA scholar-athletes in each school, the high cumulative GPA of the student-athletes in each school and the high number of student-athletes who graduate from each institution in the Heartland.

The Heartland Conference is the newest of the NCAA Division II conferences. At the present time, there are 24 conferences in NCAA Division II, totaling almost 300 institutions across the nation.

A nationally recognized university, St. Edward's offers a close-knit academic community with small classes and personalized attention. For more than a century, the university has provided higher education opportunities to students of all ages and of varied cultural, religious, educational and economic backgrounds.

In 2000, the university adopted a vision to become recognized as one of the best small universities accredited in the United States. We've made significant progress toward this goal, including being ranked among the top 25 master's-granting universities in the West in U.S. News & World Report for five years running.

The university has received many other commendations, including national recognition from Hispanic Outlook in Higher Education magazine as one of the "Top 100 Schools Graduating Hispanics"; inclusion in Colleges with a Conscience; and high marks in the National Survey of Student Engagement, where students' opinions of St. Edward's exceeded the national average in all categories.

St. Edward's is celebrated for anticipating and responding to our changing world with innovation. Working alongside our dedicated faculty, students are prepared to unleash their potential as they build a foundation for lifelong learning, achievement and personal satisfaction in career and community life.

CONGREGATION OF HOLY CROSS

Think critically, act ethically, appreciate diversity, strive for social justice and serve the community: These are the values of the Congregation of Holy Cross, which founded St. Edward's more than a century ago. The tenets continue to drive the university's mission today and transform our students into global citizens ready for the challenges of our complex world.

5: St. Edward's exceeded the national average in all five benchmark areas of the National Survey of Student Engagement: level of academic challenge, active and collaborative learning, student interactions with faculty, enriching educational experiences, and supportive campus environment.

5: St. Edward's won five out of 13 Heartland Conference championships for the 2007–2008 athletic season.

14: With a growing campus of more than 5,300 students, St. Edward's maintains a low student-to-faculty ratio of 14:1 in the traditional undergraduate college.

25: St. Edward's has been named among the top 25 master's-granting institutions in the western region by U.S. News & World Report for six consecutive years.

100%: St. Edward's puts a priority on buildings and technology that enhance learning. In fact, 100 percent of our classrooms have advanced computer and multimedia technology.
